Where is the Staffing Ratio Survey Survey?

The Managed Care Staffing Ratio Update 2008-2009 (or the “Beast” as our staff affectionately calls it”) was originally scheduled for publication January 30, 2009. Survey participation materials were sent out August 10, 2008 and we had a fairly good response rate. However, as the economic situation worsened, we began getting many more requests to participate in the survey and address specific questions pertaining to staffing levels and the economy. Because the unemployment rate is the highest in over 30 years, many plans report losing membership as people are laid off and subsequently lose their benefits. As a result, many of our clients are reviewing their own staffing levels. Since we only conduct this survey 3 or 4 years, we want to make sure our information is as accurate, relevant and useful as possible given the current economic environment. We take seriously how the survey results may effect your staffing decisions. The revised date for release of the survey results is August 6, 2009.

We thank you for your patience. This is a critical time of change in our country’s health care system and we want to make sure we are addressing your needs to the best of our ability.
